

Make a Smart Move. Work in the Triangle.

Imagine a place where you don't have to sacrifice anything to have it all. Where you have the amenities of a big city coupled with small town communities, you're just a short drive from the mountains and the coast, and you can create the career of your dreams. This place is real, and this place is the North Carolina Triangle.

The Triangle first earned its spot on the map because of Research Triangle Park and the three tier-one research universities: Duke, UNC and NC State. The region possesses Southern charm and the desire to always be innovative and move forward. Here in the Triangle, everything truly is smarter from any angle because of the opportunities for working, living, playing and learning.

► WORK

From global corporations—Red Hat, SAS, MetLife, and IBM to name a few—to small- and mid-sized companies, the Triangle is home to a wide range of businesses. The region is known for its diverse industry makeup, including life sciences, technology, cleantech and advanced manufacturing.
